

Alliteration

When a sound is repeated several times in succession, it is called alliteration. Alliteration can often add to the meaning, feeling or mood of a piece of writing.

For example: The pirate captain drew his wickedly curved cutlass and prepared for battle.

Making alliteration sentences for animals to practise this skill is great fun.

For example: Big brown bees buzz beyond the babbling brook.

Can you make some alliteration sentences for these animals?

1. Bears _____

2. Snakes _____

3. Sharks _____

4. Dolphins _____

5. Lions _____

6. Monkeys _____

7. Hippos _____

8. Bats _____

9. Cats _____